The Senators lost both games to the men from Cincinnati yesterday because they made more errors and nine less hits in the two contests. Captain McGuire used two pitchers in the first game, Weyling replacing Dineen in the seventh when the score stood 6 to 5 in favor of the home club. The visitors also utilized two twirlers in the first game, "Pirk' Hawley relieving Dammann in the sixth. This change did exhibit good judgment, for while the Senators had evidently taken Dammann's measure, they could not hit Hawley with much success, but one run being made by them during the four innings he officiated.

Cy Swaim and the once $10,000 beauty. Resitensiein, were the opposing twirlers in the second game, and each gave a much better exhibition than their associates in the first contest. The score, therefore, was much closer, the Reds playing perfectly, while four errors were charged ap against the local men, each side having been guilty of two missiles in the first came. of two misplays in the first game. Every man on the senatorial side hit the ball in the first game but Reitz and Fields, Wagher having three out of tive times at the bat, while Dineen and Weyhing each had a batting record of 1,000, each getting two hits and scoring three of the six runs made by their people. In the second game every local player but Selbach, Fields and Swaim hit safely.

The two games were full of clever plays, the work of Corcoran at short being a feature of the day. He also made four nits out of as many times at the bat in the first game. Selbach's helling was the feature of the work on the local side, his catch of Beckley's line drive in the first inning of the first game, made on the run a few inches from the ground, being the finest seen here for a good long time and re-sulting in a double play. Wrighy had seven chances in each game, accepting all of them in fine style. In the second contest Fleids, the new first baseman of the Sena-tors, made his first error. He was made the subject of jeering remarks by a number of spectators because of his inability to hit the ball, but while he may not be a rival of Beekley or McGann as hard-hitting biseman, he has so far played his position equally as well.

Cleveland Won Both.

In the two games at Baltimore yesterday the Orioles ran second in both events and the Clevelands landed both purses, the first by 6 to 3 and the second by 7 to 1. McJames was hammered out of the box in the first game and Nops shared the same fate in the second. Jones and Young pitched effectively for the Indians.

The two games at New York vesterday resulted in an even break, the Pittsburgs getting the first game by 2 to 1, although they made only three hits, while the secand went to the Giants' credit by 11 to 7. Seymour sent three men to bases on balls and then hit the next batter in the last inning of the first game, and this freakish pitching lost the game.

Boston, 7; St. Louis, 1.

Although two games were scheduled for Boston yesterday only six innings of the irst game could be played on account of rain, the verdict going to the home club over the St. Louis boys by 7 to 1.

Philadelphia, 3; Chicago, 1. The Phillies and Chicagos played only one game yesterday in Philadelphia, and the verdict went to the home club by 3 to 1 Fifield pitched a masterly game, allowing the Chicagos but two hits.

Louisville Took Two. The astonishing double-header of the league was played at Brooklyn yesterday, the visiting Louisvilles capturing both games, the first by 5 to 2 and the second by 7 to 4. The Bridegrooms played a listless sort of game, while the rearrangement of the Coloneis' infield has made the club confident and they played with snap and vim.

Base Ball Notes.

Heavy hitting won the games. Dineen, Weyhing and Swaim were all asy yesterday. The Senators had the Reds scared at the start off of the first game. Sarcastic applause is a nice way to enourage a player to hit the ball.

The Washington players are evidently waiting on Farrell to get back in the game. Charley was out practicing yesterday and may play in Philadelphia tomorrow. Seibach is fielding up to his best ability just now, and there is nothing that gets away from him. The German Senator would like to play in Cincinnati, and he is probably showing Manager Ewing what he away from him. The German Senator would like to play in Cincinnati, and he is probably showing Manager Ewing what he can do..

Arthur Wagner hit like a good fellow yesterday, but he is still weak in throwing to first. He goes after everything and plays for all he is worth, but acknowledges that third base is not his home position.

Anderson is not the same "Handy Andy" of a few weeks back. He doesn't swing at the ball with his old confidence, and several of his hits recently have been flukes. But that is the usual luck that comes Washington's way.

All the credit for the position Cincinnati occupies today belongs to "Buck" Ewing and no one else. He is continually coaching his men from the bench and seldom listens to advice from his players. Ewing is thoroughly familiar with all the ins and outs of base ball, and when a player doesn't do right he is quick to pick out the flaw.

Just think for a minute that the Cincin doesn't do right he is quick to pick out the flaw.

Just think for a minute that the Cincinnati club thought seriously of letting out "Dusty" Miller this spring. He is undoubtedly the warmest boy in the Cincinnati bunch. As a fielder and hitter he is up with the best, and when it comes to putting ginger in his fellow-players, there is none better in the business. The "bleachers' in right field at Cincinnati nearly drove "Dusty" away from the town, but his good playing this season has squared himself with that cheap class of critics.

Harry Steinfeldt took "Bid" McPhee's place at second base for the Cincinnatis yesterday and demonstrated that he is all that has been said of him. Of course, he is not in "Biddy's" class as a fielder, but he is quite a hitter, and is considerable of a factor in the game on account of his snap and coaching ability. Shin pade or a state is quite a hitter, and is considerable of a factor in the game on account of his snap and coaching ability. Shin pads or no shin pads, Steinfeldt is a first-class ball player. Fully 3,000 spectators took in the two games at National Park yesterday, and but for the rain another thousand or two would have been added after 4 o'clock. The playing of the Senators the day previous had more to do with the increased attendance that the two games for one admission. There is no city in the league that will respond with larger attendance at the games than Washington when their representative club gives signs of putting up the game for which the local "fans" believe it capable.

> of Military Surgery. From Electricity. A short time ago in England a lecture was delivered before the Royal United Service Institution by Surgeon Major

Beever, entitled "Working of the Roentgen Ray in Warfare," which in view of cur extensive military operations in Cuba is particularly interesting and timely. The lecture was based on the result of experierces gained with the X-ray apparatus during a recent frontier expedition in India. The lecturer stated at the outset that his object was to give the results of the employment of the Roentgen rays in military surgery and to mention certain modifications in the construction of the appliances for generating the X-ray which had suggested themselves to him after working an ong the wounded on the field of battle and its adjacent hospitals. Dur-ing the course of the lecture many cases of interest from the campaign were shown of interest from the campaign were shown by means of magic lantern slides thrown by means of magic lantern slides thrown upon a screen. These consisted of bullet wounds sustained by officers and men, injuring bones, joints and internal organs, which baffed the skill of surgeons to ascertain their exact extent and which but for the application of the X-rays, so it was claimed, must have resulted in amoutation and probable loss of life. The pictures shown include all manner of wounds. The most remarkable results obtained by the use of Roentgen rays were probably in the cases of a bullet imbedded in the backbone of one man, in the hip of another aid in the heel of a third. In each of the cases referred to the bullets were successfully removed by aid of the rays, the men subsequently rejoining their respective regiments at the front. Great stress was laid by the speaker on the desirability of having all the apparatus for military work as simple in construction as possible, thus readily enabling the defects of wear and tear to be renovated.

As regards the most desirable means of transporting the apparatus As regards the most desirable means of

As regards the most desirable means of transporting the apparatus, it was pointed out that it was not only possible but easy to have an X-ray outfit working at the front; that the cases exhibited were indisputable proof that even in savage warfare the X-ray could be brought thoroughly under control and in many cases alleged. Tare the X-ray could be brought thoroughly under control and in many cases alleviate an immense amount of human suffering. A most important point referred to by the lecturer was, that after trying every kind of transport in India-mules, camels, wheeled vehicles, etc.—he came to the conclusion that by far the safest and most satisfactory was human transport. As the portable apparatus did not exceed 80 to 100 pounds in weight, it was found that two men were all that were required that two men were all that were so to 100 pounds in weight, it was found that two men were all that were required, with a reserve of two more with reserve equipments. A bamboo pole or steel pipe some six feet in leigth was what he found the best thing from which to suspend the toxes. This method of transport is said to have proven eminently satisfactory in spite of the extremely uneven nature of the country.

The campaign which the United States is at present carrying on in Cuba is also through a country difficult to penetrate, but if a military X-ray outfit could be so successfully transported and proved such a boon in India, there would seem to be no reason why our armies should not also be provided with apparatus of this nature. A short time ago there was some talk of so doing, but whether any decided steps have as yet been taken in the matter we are unable to say. If nothing has as yet been done, the question of providing X-ray outfits should be taken up at once by the proper authorities with a view to giving cur wounded soldiers the benefit of this means of alleviating their sufferings.

The Senators leave for Philadelphia tomorrow and play four games in that city; three games with Chicago in the windy city follows and then four with Pittsburg. The schedule calls for four games in Cleveland, but these games have been transferred to Washington so that the Senators will return home August 6 instead of the seat the head wounds are most numerous, and those of the extremities come next.
